In advance, I want to admit that my writing format for this version, unusually, will be unstructured. Let me try if I could make my reasons reasonable. It is kind of chitchatting. As such, let me begin like this. After more than four decades in the landscape of Ghedli Eritrea, I reached to a conclusion where I have to make some judicious review onto my own endeavor. And that is to slow down. My past writings had already covered every conceivable chronicle of our quagmires. I can see it now occurring the way I envisioned it ahead of time: prophesy Medrek's 101.

When I considered writing for this paper it was for my own record only. I compiled some 50 page contents packaged under this title. This piece is part of it as a prelude of which I decided to share it now. The rest are composed in Tigrigna and remain pending for release in the future if necessary. They could make pain at the butt for some quarters.

Having said the above, the composition of this writing includes many satires suitably. Let me begin with The Tigrayi Weyane's troubles and then some relevant advice to The Eritrean Government's flows.

1) For the Weyane: The Amharic verbatim "ጉድ ፈለ" is my favorite. More than that, I love the richness of the Amharic language as much as I do for the Sudanese/Eritean version of Arabic. I give credit to Amharic for it has influenced me to become reading lover. During my high school era, I read series of influential Amharic books, some of which included: አንድ ለናቱ፤ ፍቅር እስከ መቃብር፤ አልወለድም፤ ዲግሪ ያሳባደው ካርቱም ሀደ ቀረ and later on አሮማይ etc. I believe that my style in Tigrigna writing is a derivative from the Amharic literature. That is being said, ጉድ ፈለ is the emphasis of this specific point in order. It is in relevance to the Tigrayi Weyane mobs that has been disassembling the Ethiopia society into pieces according the color if their eyes. The evil of the time, Weyane, is now standing toe on one foot at the edge of a cliff.

እረ ህድልኛ እንክበሃል ከሎ። If you are passionate to the pain the Ethiopian people are suffering under the Weyane Tigrayi's apartheid, listen to this videos. There are at least five consecutive videos that you are required to listen one after the other as a precondition to precede reading. You need to sacrifice your evening to watch the following video before reading my 2Cents post. You may need soft tissue on hand if in case your eyes sore.

People's Storm Against The Blood Thirst Weyane

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RmiPhBNT79Q>

The law of cause and effect works. The basic understanding of Karma goes like this: "What goes around comes around" or "as you sow, so shall you reap" The Weyane org sinned against the people of Eritrea big time and now ... its day for judgment by the order of The Holly Father is in in effect. My hope is that, one day, those Weyane collaborator Eritreans will come to their senses for their mistakes. Come on folks!! You can't tell me that you are fighting on behalf of me for my rights while friended with Weyane, the deadly enemy of us. Do you get it fox?

I knew Weyane since they were as few as we were able to numerically finger counted them - በጸብህ ዝቕጸሩ እንከለዉ። They were dangerous then and stayed persistent for that. Even though they never knew the secrecy of it, I don't forget the collateral rescue I got from them during my critical dark hour by elements of their assignee that came to our command for help for a certain duty at the front line.

Fox, you can't tell me you love Eritrea while you are in love with Suzan's friend and Obam's under nutritional soul as seen in this dinner table.

Feeding the under nutritional Desalegn

Once it had conquered the Amhara Power House, APH, the wicked took no time to practice vengeance acts upon the Ethiopian public at the expense of the Tigray Addi Jeganu. Bashing, belittling, underestimating has been the response given to the Ethiopian people's agony. It ignored the inevitable crisis hovering upon the country they care less about it. The clan as I could relate it to the KKK white supremacy of the USA; I called it the Weyane clan, WKKK, having the Agazi Army as its killer Dragon. It failed to learn lessons from Dergue's past fall especially from the defeat of the Red Star Campaign.

"In 1982, the EPLF faced the sixth and most violent offensive of the Ethiopian army, known as the "Red Star Campaign", which involved a total of 100,000 Ethiopian troops equipped by the Soviet Union. On this occasion, Mengistu moved his office to Asmara to oversee military operations which were deployed on three fronts: Barka, Nakfa and around Alghena. The offensive involved the massive use of air power and toxic gas that the EPLF resisted by building a network of underground bases and fabricating homemade gas masks and other equipment. The EPLF was able to survive the offensive, which, according to EPLF sources, caused 33,000 Ethiopian casualties and 2,000 Eritrean casualties. This outcome gave renewed confidence to the EPLF, whereas the Derg army became severely demoralised from its attempt to destroy Eritrean resistance." source . Emphasis is mine.

For many years while the people of Ethiopia have been calling for change, the Weyane lashes back - labeling the people as Eritrea's Shaebia mercenaries: to be specific as terrorists. Now "ጉድ ፈለ።" Weyane is being hunted by its own measure. The people are telling it that the Ethiopian public has nothing to do with the Eritrean Shaebia. It is in the contrary that the Weyane by itself is an Ethiopian Terrorist, is what the people are telling it. They made it clear that the Weyane is their sole enemy. ጉድ ፈለ.

Sad to say this, nevertheless, the Ethiopian people, sooner or later, will face serious dangers from multiple chronic health matters along with wide spread of famine and droves of mass exodus fleeing out of the country according Medrek's prophecy 101. Worse than that, it is on the verge of disintegration. The cause for the dangers is the destroyer Tigray Peoples Liberation Front, TPLF, itself. ኣይበልናንዶ: In other words, the loosely coupled societies with unique identities of their own who have been ruled under one Ethiopian umbrella are now on the verge of catastrophic problems of all kinds.

2) For The Government of Eritrea:

- I abhor the way the government functions without a constitutional law. To avoid for further chaos that our country is being accused for, time has come for the government to seriously consider our appeal to resolve the burning issue. Regardless what the constitution might encompass, we need at least a posturing document called a "constitution." I think, democracy can never be as something like a digital template that can be applied uniformly everywhere where the sun rises. In that sense, it is safe to say that no constitution is born equal. It is rather a guide, I would say, to be engineered to satisfy to a certain specification accordingly.
- I abhor the way the government's handling the prisoners' of conscience cases. To avoid for further chaos that the country is being accused for, time has come for the government to diligently deliver justice for all prisoners who are being locked up heartlessly.
- It is very disturbing of the government's insensitivity towards the wide range spread of public dissatisfaction the way their government functions. Public opinion is a serious matter. Shouldn't the government consider creating a system to scientifically collect opinion data from the public: call it Public Opinion Survey Study System, POSSS, on one hand and on the other a Commission of Corruption Inquiry, COCI, of its own? Then come out with a plan of action to resolve issues according the findings of the study. This way or the other, public confidence must be restored back to its originality. ደሐር ከላ - ጎረቤትካ ከላጸ እንከሎ፡ ጭሕምኻ አጠልቋ፡ ከም ዝተባህለ መጠን፡ ንወያነ ወራዲዮ ዘሎ ሓዊ፡ ናብ ህዝቢ ኤርትራ ክልሕም ይኸለል ማለት፡ ዘይ ሕለም እኳ እንተ ኾነ፡ መረረ ህዝቢ ኤርትራ ግን፡ ብርዝነት ክሰማዕን ክትግበርን ይግባእ።

Now let me do some chitchatting surrounding our favorite daily political gujimjim, ጉጅምጂም, in matters of dirty politics by those of us who stood firmly pro and firmly against the Government of Eritrea. In between are: the silent majority and the undecided or the langlanga, ላንግላንጊ.

Chitchatting:

The two opposites, the pro and the anti of the Eritrean system, one is progressing while the other is digressing big time. At the center, it is the Government of the State of Eritrea and its State Architect and forecaster with his many adjectives. He is the most favored and the most blamed Tegadalai, Eritrea has ever created: her son with decorated colors. Rightly or wrongly all the hullabalooos are mostly about him. Well, he is holding his ground. A thorough audit to his reputation performance may find his balance sheet bottom line on green: my belief.

I am so anxious by the turn of current events. The entire geopolitics seems to be taking its toll on the USA. She seems nervously out all over the planet to look for any crack left for her in the Middle East and Horn of Africa zones that she has lost them already. Eritrea is now in this inescapable dangerous Arab circle. It has to do what it has to do for its own reasons.

From the other end, we hear that Russia and the USA may take us back to the old world war history. Germany is also growing tall in Europe same as the USA is in North and South America. Testing political balloons for possible nuclear wars are beginning to float on the skies. Every indication suggests that our world is in serious trouble more than ever. Under such circumstances, how Eritrea is handling to this prevailing geopolitical storm requires a special assessment. For me, her current position could be more of advantages than disadvantages. Check this out.

USA with its blood stained hands upon us is beginning to sniff on Eritrea. It seems that it is on its look for a strategic gateway through which it could display its power influence in those zones. Time will tell what she is up to. I remain cautious. As the saying said, having seen someone robbed you; it is hard to trust him giving you. ከሰርቀኔ ዝረአኸዎስ ከሀበኔ ነይ እምኖ ከም ማለት። It is just like that for the almighty, a slave master, the USA.

The latest State Department denial the right of Eritreans to conduct public conference with their government's representatives in its land is a testimony what the USA is all about when it comes in regard its strategic interest. It is a puzzle that is very hard to comprehend. The intuitive reaction that registers in the mind is that the USA action is a pure punishment against Eritrea. I doubt it. How could it be? The other night it was gesturing positively that it is renewing its embassy's presence in Asmara and then the next day took the absurd action. Simply, it is a disgusting political rhetoric intended for its own face saving: my take as is. It wanted to show to the other camp that it still remains tough on Eritrea. Nothing else! It makes me laugh. Hence, my guess is that there may not be something to worry about. I take it as late night theatrical talk show. All we don't know is what deals behind the curtain is going on.

In summation, I feel positive. The unfortunate revelation in Ethiopia is what I have predicted it to occur ahead of time. The worst is yet to come.

Front page media is being attracted by the Tigrai's Guard, Weyane, is being terminally ill due to AIDs caused by unsafe practices. But the patient is denying it. Instead, it is trying to make a case that it is rather a malignant cancer caused by a laboratory proven virus known as Eritrea: weird as it sounds. This way or the other, the end of Weyane is predictable to hell leaving the door wide open for any hyena to come in: ውሻ በቀይደው ጅብ ይገባበታል.

For the so called Eritrean opposition, many of whom whose origin are from Jebha seems that they have lost their foster parent, the Weyane of Tigrai. Sad to see them orphaned. That's what you end up to if committing shameful self-incriminatory acts collaborating with the enemy of your people that you are well aware of. It also applies to those I sarcastically called them the triple AAA websites, to mention the least.

My dispute with the so called opposition is the result of my vast experience. I have already made year to year performance review on it a while ago to which I scored it bellow an acceptable patriotic standard which could result a threat to our national security. It is a devastating truth. Several of backward-looking political movements cannot qualify to be as the vanguard representatives for their constituents for a fundamental change in power. Should that is the realty, the movement falls into another category named as anarchism/ ሽፍትነት ወይ ከአ ፋሉልነት. Here was my truncated safari alongside the opposition.

In 1977, an uprising by the grassroots Tegadelti of Jebha, demanding improvement on how their beloved Front has been administered by its crooked leaders was crushed militarily by the Jebha Secret Labor Party, JSLP, similar with the German's Gestapo dirty jobs in 1933. I escaped through the eye of a needle from the crackdown by the JSLP and went to exile in The Sudan when thousands of our heroic warriors found their way to Shaebia.

During my stay in Khartoum, I joined with some senior cadres who were over there in defiance against the trouble maker Jebha for their own reasons that I may not be able to say the exact. Nevertheless, they were organized under a title: Eritrean Democratic Movement, EDM. Leaving aside all about the contradictions surrounding it on how its name was adopted, I joined it knowing that the movement has never been the leading factor to the grass roots movement which began soon after the National Congress of the ELF was conducted in the jungles of Barka Tahtai in 1975. The JSLP condemned it as: Falul or Anarchists.

In Khartoum, among the movers of the EDM was the notorious Hurui Tedla Bairu. Every effort we have attempted to make it as the leading team to validate the demands raised by the mass Tegadelti of Jebha never happened. A serious task to recruit for new members from Kessela in preparation for possible deployment to Meda assigned to comrade Tareke Beraki and I never took off. Finally, we went in disarray in peers of our own affiliations.

Consequentially, some of our comrades, one of whom was Tegadalai Goitom, met with me confidentially. And we have discussed what was all about the EDM of Khartoum. There was no disagreement among us in regard the shortcomings of the EDM that we were concerned about. We agreed in every issue that was going on. They were furiously angry upon the movers of it. At the conclusion of our discussion, they made it clear for me and that was their intent to distance themselves from the EDM and wanted me to cosign their already prepared declaration letter to be distributed for public perusal. I disagreed believing that it would be unproductive to make it public. My argument was that we could quietly slide out from EDM without publicizing so to avoid bad image in the eyes of our public. They were determined to do it and they distributed the declaration flyers publicly minus my consent.

They went their highway through and I hold on with the remaining EDM hoping that we would find ways to straighten it out. We tried our best along with some dedicated fighters one of whom was my intimate comrade, martyr Zekarias Neguse who later fallen victim of unknown assassins in Dessie post our independence. Many believe that it was the crime committed by Shaebia at the blessing of Weyane.

Together him and me, we began researching for the causes of our ineffectiveness. We thought of possible conspiracy theory. We suspected something might have been going on by some personalities for their own fame.

Our search led us to an important eye opener opportunity. It was a moment of my significant historic meeting with one of our great revolution player. Covered under the dark of the night; escorted by secret security apparatus, we met the admirable hero; martyr Osman Saleh Sabe at his villa in Amarat of Khartoum. He was accompanied by his finance handler Dejazmatch Asmerom. Leaving aside all the details that we had scratched about what was prevailing at the time, we agreed to nothing in a friendly manner. Nevertheless, it was revealed to us that there were some players behind our backs who claimed as leaders from EDM doing low level performances. We had accomplished the goal of our mission. Let me fast-forward.

The EDM in Khartoum became insolvent soon around 1979. It was mainly because of the hopelessness caused by its senior cadres. Many moved out from The Sudan and migrated to everywhere: Middle East, Europe and America. I ended up in California. So did my comrade martyr Zecarias Neguse ahead of me to the East Cost of USA.

In 1981, Jebha became insolvent. Luckily, some of its Tegadelti who were jailed in its Mogoraib prison suspected of Falulunet, it let them go free not because of its justice but because it bankrupted.

I heard that some of whom ended up in the Sudan and they came out with the idea to resurrect the failed movement, EDM. Its renowned leaders included martyr Ghiorgis and Ghebrebrhan Zere whose where about still unknown since he was kidnaped by Higdef from Humora post the independence.

For my surprise, some senior cadres who were jailed in Mogoraib and later associated with the EDM of Khartoum, migrated to USA and settled in the Bay Area of California. We knew very well of each other back then when Jebha was intact and we were happily reunited. They updated me all about how the EDM got revived in Khartoum.

Even though few of us, we enthusiastically pledged to continue the struggle for the liberation of our country in line with the administrative guidelines of the EDM based in Khartoum. We have elected our leader and his subordinates. We also came out with an idea the need to have our own mouthpiece periodical titled: መሬት/Mereb in North of America. I was its editor in chief and the sole financial responsible for its distribution. The circulation of Mereb in the Bay area has created hot discussions, to say the least. I believe that it made it to the archives of the Stanford University library.

Unfortunately, we have fallen in trouble for a serious debacle. We have gotten an official autocratic letter from the newly formed EDM leaders in Khartoum. They ordered us to stop the publication of our Mereb. No publication was allowed from our end in North America, they said. They instructed us to only help the distribution of their mouth pies publication from Khartoum titled - አግእዚ. One among of their main concerns was that our stand against Tigray Peoples Liberation Front, TPLF, contradicted with their policies. They stood positive about TPLF while we stood negative about it. That was in the first half of the 1980th.

We have complied with their ruling but they risked our participation after that. We had to freeze our role with them pending further resolve. Technically, our ideas got assassinated because we exercised the privilege of free speech.

While we were in the middle of our swamp dilemma, comrade Zecarias Neguse acting as a middle man to bridge the disagreement between us and the Khartoum based leadership met with me in New York City. We have discussed the issues slice by slice at length. Unfortunately, we disagreed and both he and I separated in frustration. That was it goodbye with EDM. Coincidentally, it was when the Dergue's 6th offensive was waged against Shaebia. I sided in support of Shaebia financially and morally despite my political disagreement with it.

However, our group in the Bay Area never quit from being active in the affairs of the ongoing struggle for independence without a formal title. Effort made by Wedi Zere in our private closed door meeting in Oakland to resolve the issues didn't bear fruit. In addition, a night long phone discussion between martyr Ghiorgis from Germany and me in California didn't move an inch for concession mainly due to our differences about the Weyane of Tigray. Unlike some of Weyane's supporters including Shaebia, I kept my suspicion upon it since the first day I have met with its gunmen. All years went fast to 1991, and Eritrea got its independence followed by a referendum in 1993.

The referendum marked as another judgment day for the ELF originated organizations to history. They abstained to vote. I cast my vote for the independence. Nevertheless, I had my doubts that the EPLF would deliver an all-inclusive form of a government. It didn't. I continued hoping for solutions. Never saw any fixes.

Again, in the year 1998, Badme's war with Tigray, marked another final exam for the ELFers. They flunked. I didn't. To just briefly talk my story about Badme, it agonize me every time I hear about it.

Its unique name is Badme Himbrti: a great village of Hanetays. Our operation command, me as a major contributor in planning and execution, liberated it for the first time from the rule of Menghesha of Tigray's governor under his deputy (ዖስሰረ) of Adyabo, Grazmatch Negasi. My flashback ignites flames of the bloody Grazmatch Negasi on how he ended up his own life. It pains me a lot the way Shaebia played the game on Badme prior and post the independence. I feel like my patriotic achievement for the liberation of Badme has been dumped down to the toilet by Shaebia. Regardless, I took my grudges aside and joined the forces of Shaebia in defense of our sovereignty during our bad time war with Tigray in 1998. Again, I felt stubbed on my back when the Jebhawyan sided with Tigray warriors for the invasion of Eritrea.

For them, they took it as a short cut golden opportunity dropped out of the blue or haughty dream intended to overthrow the Government of Eritrea just like that easily. They proudly took ride on Weyane's fighter Tanks towards Asmara. They rushed enlisting a Fesila means a Unit, of 13 numbers known as an Eritrean National Alliance, ENA, in Addis Abeba. For me, Addis Abeba is like a huge warehouse that supplies weapons of mass destruction to wipe out our existence from the earth. For me, Addis Ababa means Addis Darknes or Addis Chelema. I wish victory for the Oromo's revolution, if they may reverse to its given name "Finfe" and take over it so to drive Weyane out to their beloved land Tigray Adi Jeganu.

The war ended in 2000. At that juncture, I had to withdraw my lead position from the committee with which I was one of the main key players in assisting in support for the defense of our country along with the Santa Clara County community chapter. During that short period, two years, I suffered harsh threats to my safety from members of the community that I was working with. They drove me crazy and in equivalence to that my stress level sky rocketed. I collapsed. Lucky that I was for my family, as my saver doctor put it, I would have been ushered to heaven if I was not in his hand an hour late. Stayed in bed at the hospital for couple of days I recovered. One, lead disturber, among a team causing an equivocal damage to the unity of the community was celebrating for my demise. He was heard saying "one is down and some more to go."

Experiencing of so much of hurdle despite my dedication for the good of my country that I pledged to give my life since I was under age, why shouldn't I quit like many of others. Not me. I was, I am and I will continue to do so till my time is up by our "father which art in heaven: Hallowed be thy name."

Life goes on so does my love and dedication for my country. Upholding with some of my reservations, I have supported the ENA with all my inputs through my periodical: Tefeno. Unfortunately, I watched that ENA was going crazy uncontrolled and ended up in disarray prematurely. The next job was accomplished by an auto body repair mechanic Meles Zenawi from our closest neighbor Tigray Addi Jeeganu who did his best to help picking up the broken unrelated pieces from the floor and make something out of it so he could market it per the Blue Book appraisal. He drove all the way down to Khartoum of the Sudan to perform the repair with his tool boxes.

He made it successfully. He assembled many of the remnants of the ELF with some additions from here and there. The Eritrean Democratic Alliance, EDA, was up on the ashes of ENA. I never lost hope for it. I devoted my energy critiquing it in the hope it would get better. It never did. This one too went crazy sentencing against of each other. It eliminated some of its member organizations selectively. What could have been the reason? The probable cause could have been apartheid against belief based on race and or faith. The damage has been deep. Fast forward ...

Concurrently, as a result of the Eritrea opposition has been losing direction to which it supposed to drive through, many concerned of us who were residing all over in the Bay Area, affiliated with different political organizations made it to a general meeting in Oakland, California. We formed a partnership titled: ሻዕባል, Storm. We elected our officials and paid our annual membership fees. It died not far after it took off. Why? Because, some hard headed personnel insisted to involve Wudbat /Organizations/ such as the EDA in the business of our partnership.

After some years elapsed and I forgot all about it, a messenger from its elected treasurer visited me at my work to deliver a refund that I have paid for my dues. He explained to me that since the partnership didn't exist any longer the treasurer decided to give refund to all of its members. Good of him the treasurer. He must be a good man. I wish for a refund that I have contributed for politics and including for communal enhancement projects such as for our children's sport development.

The proceeded game was nothing but a: Go Mary round/ ጭርጭር ዓቢይ. Finally, the Eritrean opposition was auctioned in a flea market in Awasa of Ethiopia. The same disabled body has been renamed to a Whole Sale Baito /Congress/. TPLF has been involved as its franchise owner licensing it to operate according to its requirement. But what result can we get by flipping over a black blanket? It never changes. ወንጌ እንተ ገልበጥካዮ ወንጌ. That was it.

My dream to push for democratic change side by side along with such untrusted organizations became impossible. There was no trustworthy organization. I had to compose an article titled: ደክሪ ሞት ጥዕና ቅበጽ - gone is your health once you're dead.

Prior to that, I have formally joined a group in the Bay Area who were members of the Congress Party/ Strategy Addi headed by Hurui Tedla Bairu from Stocholm. Not even a mile of a trip, we withdrew from Hurui's strategy Addi for reasons I prefer for others to say about it better than I can do. That is it. What else can one do when all doors to revolutionize an opposition are being sealed as is for a coffin of a dead body?

If we can benchmark all the oppositions to my episode, the fitness is rightly devastating. It is deadly scary. That's why I preferred to stay in limbo hopping that the Eritrean Government will address to all the pending critical issues. Already, the government has accomplished tremendous measurable services to the Eritrean society per its long term start up program to reach at its social justice goals. Keep note of social Justice.

I am always feeling comfortable that I have never failed to clearly identify where my patriotic duty ought to bestow for the mother land. My comprehension to the intricacies of Eritrea's matters within all its critics wasn't hard for me to identify each and individual parts of it: who is who, what is what and why is why. I have been keenly positioned myself to play at the equilibrium of my own marking scale. It worked fine for my satisfaction. Thanks God, my predictions or prophecies are happening – the fall of Weyane and possibly the disintegration of Ethiopia have begun. And one more thing I should mention.

In all my walks and talks, I was sharply criticizing the administration of the Eritrean government. But I am proud for its fortitude strongly sustaining the safety and security of the nation against all the odds while all political stones are being burning. I am positive about its effort for the nation building golden projects. I could imagine that Eritrea is being poised to the possibility becoming one of the best of the best from African nations. Should it repairs its horrible human rights records, my dream would be fulfilled. How did I reach to such optimism?

It didn't happen randomly overnight or ብሃሰሰ. I had to do some selfless approaches. Having that as my standard, it helped me to inspect all the parts separately according the roles they played into our lives by applying the methods of political scientific metrologies. Results are amazing. Many scraps: Tigrai's Weyane, and the ineffective Eritrean oppositions goes to the Trash Bin.

At this episode, none is an alternative to the Higdif system. It is solid. Hence, Higdif has all the: means, goodwill, and power, legitimacy ... to come out with a conciliatory formula to heal the wounds we are living with since the beginning of our liberation struggle. Come on Higdif, why are you resistant to our calls for change?

God Bless Eritrea
